Port-au-Prince bombed

Haiti claims rebels routed

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The government of President Francois Duvalier claimed Tuesday night it had smashed a rebel invasion force in a fierce 20-minute battle near the Cap Haitien airport on the north coast.

Government sources said 10 of 35 invaders were killed Tuesday and the survivors fled into nearby hills ahead of pursuing government troops.

The government announced plans to fly two captured B25 bombers to Port au Prince Wednesday. Sources said Duvalier probably would inspect them personally.

The planes were said to have landed the invasion party at Cap Haitien Monday following a bombing attack on the capital in which one person was reported killed and several injured.

A local newspaper said "Papa Doc" Duvalier was in bed reading when bombs fell near the palace Monday.

Sources in Port au Prince said the Cap Haitien battle started about 9 a.m. and lasted 20 minutes. They said the heavy pounding from a gunboat offshore aided the army troops.

Reports here of 10 rebel dead conflicted with reports reaching Washington of five dead. Ambassador Arthur Banham told a news conference in Washington that all the dead were Haitians.

Government and diplomatic sources said the attack was instigated by Haitian exiles based in the United States. Government spokesmen described the invaders as supporters of Paul Magloire, a former president, and members of the New York-based "Haitian Coalition," an

DRBC calls Lehigh River polluted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River Basin Commission confirmed Tuesday what fishermen have been saying for some time: pollution is killing plant and animal life in the lower Lehigh River.

"In recent decades, the river has become less able to support the abundant fish and plant life that once existed in the Delaware River's second largest tributary, which drains the Pocono Mountain region," the commission said.

The report, prepared by the commission and the state Health Department and Fish Commission, urged that a monitoring program be set up to help determine if and when fish that swim upstream to spawn could be introduced safely into the Lehigh and to determine the size of their spawning areas and the feasibility of providing fish passage facilities.

Poor People stage march

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaigners made their first mass march on Congress Tuesday. They were met by dozens of police and were permitted to proceed only after breaking up into small groups.

It was an hour of quiet confrontation with the legislators after an initial contingent had come earlier in the day in small groups to House and Senate.

Harriman, DeGaulle hold talk

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman expressed hope Tuesday that something will come from a British-Soviet meeting in Moscow on Vietnam. Other Americans professed to see a faint prospect of progress in preliminary talks here, and perhaps their enlargement.

Harriman expressed his views after paying what he said was a courtesy call on President Charles de Gaulle. Later North Vietnam's chief negotiator, Xuan Thuy, met with De Gaulle. Both envoys reported cordial interviews with the president and Thuy said De Gaulle expressed hope the Paris peace talks would succeed.

As the Americans and North Vietnamese prepared for their fourth session at the French International Conference Center Wednesday a subtle change in the Hanoi delegation's phrasing held American interest.

Instead of saying the two sides could discuss "other matters of common interest" if the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam ended, the Hanoi delegation spokesman spelled out a possible "second stage" for these talks involving political settlement.

A U.S. spokesman quickly pointed out that should a political stage be reached, South Vietnam "would certainly be involved." The United States, he said, was not in a position alone "to reach a political settlement with Hanoi." He evidently meant any proposal of settlement would be rejected if it meant leaving the Saigon government out in the cold.

The talks, both sides said, would remain in Paris, despite the uproar being caused by strikes of millions of workers paralyzing France. The two sides felt the talks were not being affected.

Senate rules confessions valid

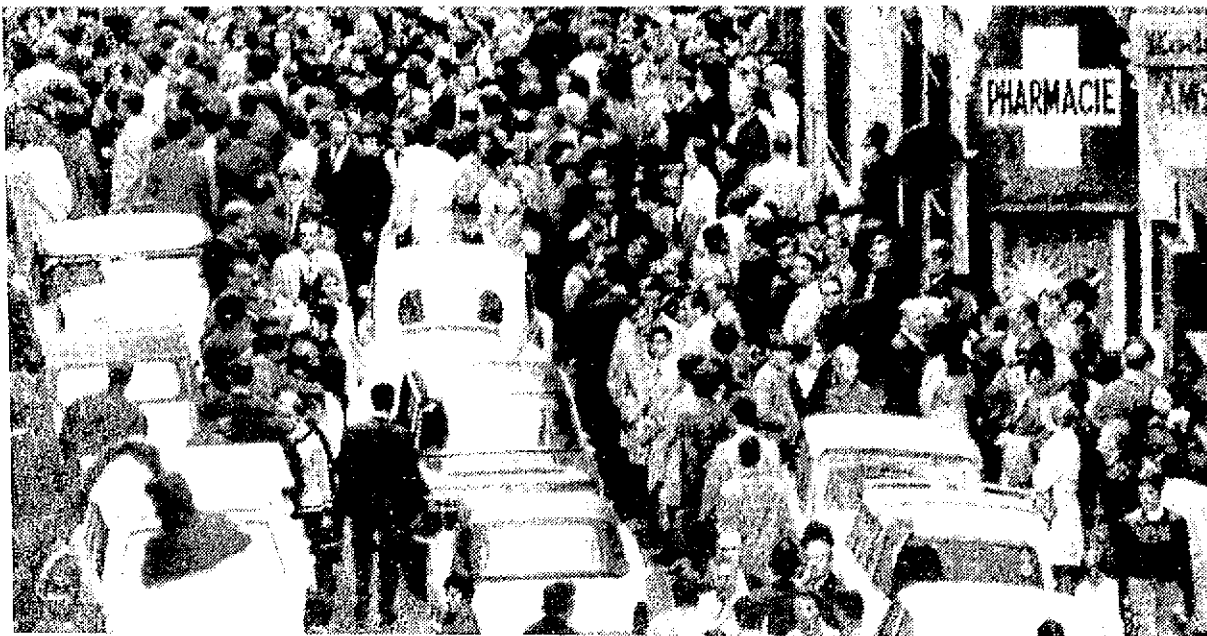

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Tuesday to overturn Supreme Court decisions restricting the use of confessions and eyewitness testimony in federal cases. But it refused to limit the court's power to review such cases arising in State courts.

In one of the most significant of a series of votes, the Senate knocked out of the omnibus crime control bill a provision that would have stripped the court of its power to reverse state rulings that accepted voluntary confessions.

General sees war increasing

SAIGON (AP) — Striking with precision, North Vietnamese gunners hit four major U.S. headquarters near Hue Tuesday. Thousands of U.S. soldiers moving in to meet the threat posed in the far north by three enemy divisions repulsed a ground attack on one base.

"The intensity of the war seems to be increasing," Gen. William C. Westmoreland, retiring commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said before taking off for a farewell visit to American servicemen in Thailand.

Reporters asked Westmoreland if the rising tempo of battle was part of the enemy's "talk and fight" strategy timed to coincide with the U.S.-North Vietnamese negotiations in Paris. He replied that "circumstantial evidence" indicated this.

For the present, the greatest peril appeared to be in the north, where intelligence reports say at least three North Vietnamese divisions are operating.

Last week a series of battles broke out south of Da Nang, the U.S. Marine base about 100 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. Early this week, enemy attacks shifted to U.S. Marine bases near the zone.

Tuesday's attacks came about midway between Da Nang and the zone. They centered around Hue, the old imperial capital badly damaged when the North Vietnamese occupied it during the Tet offensive in February.

The heaviest pounding was at Camp Eagle, home of the "Screaming Eagles" of the 101st Airborne Division six miles southeast of Hue.

About 300 rounds of mortars and giant 122mm rockets weighing 100 pounds apiece slammed into the base.

The shelling began at midnight and lasted until dawn, when North Vietnamese ground forces swept in and attacked the base's perimeter. After several hours of fighting the North Vietnamese withdrew. The U.S. Command reported 54 enemy killed.

Other rocket and mortar attacks were hurled against Camp Evans, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, 16 miles northwest of Hue; a paratroop base camp three miles northeast of Hue, and at Phu Bai, headquarters of U.S. provisional corps about 10 miles southeast of the old capital.

U.S. casualties in all four of the attacks were 13 killed and 54 wounded.

One drive centers around Hue and the other near the provincial capital of Quang Tri about 30 miles to the northeast. The drives were not disclosed until Tuesday for security reasons.

In another delayed report, headquarters announced that a rocket attack on Camp Evans Sunday resulted in "moderate damage" to the air cavalry's helicopter fleet.

Doctors perform 15th transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital began the world's 15th heart transplant operation Tuesday night. The recipient was identified as Louis John Fierro, 47, of Elmont, N.Y.

The surgery started at 10:49 p.m. CDT, a hospital spokesman said. He identified the donor as Hubert Brungardt, 17, of Pasadena, Tex.

Pushing to oust president

PARIS (AP) — Left-wing deputies launched a determined attack Tuesday on President Charles de Gaulle's 10-year-long regime, seeking to capitalize politically on scholastic ferment and ever-spreading strikes that are costing France millions of dollars a day in lost production.

The French people "have had enough of this regime of personal power," Waldeck Rochet, secretary-general of the French Communist party, told the National Assembly in debate on a motion of censure expected to reach a vote tonight.

The president's position is not directly threatened, for his term runs until 1972, but passage of the motion would oust Premier Georges Pompidou and his Cabinet, the executors of De Gaulle's policies.

As if in preparation for the debate the Cabinet decided there would be no punishment for 44 students charged with violence in the street riots that led into the nation's strike crisis. Summoned by De Gaulle, the ministers approved an amnesty bill that will be submitted to Parliament Wednesday. Of the accused youths, 21 had been convicted and 23 were facing court action.

The Gaullist coalition has a narrow majority in the National Assembly, and its leaders expressed confidence that it would survive the vote. Communists and the Federation of the Democratic and Socialist Left charged in the censure motion that the government had refused to deal effectively with demands of students, teachers, farmers and workers.

The French Communist party called for an end to De Gaulle's regime and the formation of "a true republican regime opening the way to socialism."

Political informants said De Gaulle was considering a move to enlist the backing of the French people for a wide reform of French political and social institutions. They reported he was thinking of consulting the nation, possibly as early as next month, by means of a referendum.

He may announce this move in a television broadcast to the country that he has scheduled for Friday evening.

Students occupy Columbia hall

NEW YORK (AP) — About 150 to 200 Columbia University students occupied Hamilton Hall on the school's Morningside Heights campus Tuesday night, challenging the authority of the university administration for the second time within a month.

Lines of the confrontation hardened when Acting Dean Henry Coleman entered the building shortly before 7:30 p.m. and ordered the demonstrators to leave. He said if they did not, the university had "no alternative" except to summon city police.

Stormy career to end

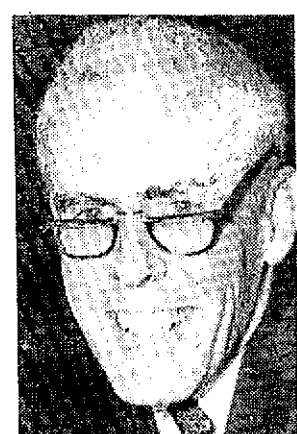

Goddard quitting as FDA chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James B. Goddard, colorful and controversial chief of the Food and Drug Administration, is resigning effective July 31 to join a data processing company in Atlanta, the administration announced Tuesday.

Goddard, 45, FDA commissioner for an often-stormy 20 months, will become vice president of EDP Technology Inc. He will be director of a southeast regional office the firm is to open in Atlanta.

Goddard's wife has relatives in Atlanta, and he served there for 3½ years as chief of the Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center before taking his present post in January 1965.

As commissioner, Goddard has been under almost continuous attack by forces in the drug industry and by some congressmen. And he has had differences with some policies of the Johnson administration.

But Theodore O. Cron, a close aide, said Goddard has strong support from his superiors and isn't being forced to leave by opponents either inside or outside government.

"It's just a case of being tired," said Cron. "The pressure has been tremendous."

Goddard holds the rank of rear admiral as a career officer in the Public Health Service.

No successor as FDA chief has been named.

Wilbur J. Cohen, secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, announced the resignation. In a letter of acceptance expressing "great reluctance," Cohen told Goddard:

"Your vigorous and superior leadership and your courage and your clear perception of the public welfare have characterized your performance throughout your career as one of our finest public servants."

The drug chief said he feels it would do no good to make criminals out of young people who experimented with LSD.

FBI claims Dr. Spock wanted to be prosecuted

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock was quoted by the federal government Tuesday as telling FBI agents before his indictment last January: "If the government wishes to prosecute me, I'd be delighted."

On another occasion, the 65-year-old pediatrician was depicted as baiting an assistant U.S. attorney general in an attempt to provoke arrest on charges of counseling young Americans to avoid the draft.

"It is my purpose," Spock was quoted further, "to do as much as possible to frustrate and obstruct the raising of troops by the United States for the war in Vietnam."

Spock's purported defiance before his indictment was outlined by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wall in his opening statements to an all-male jury in U.S. District Court.

Wall's version of the case went temporarily unchallenged, except through the pleas of innocent previously entered by the defendants. Judge Francis J.W. Ford ruled that defense opening statements will not be made until the conclusion of the government's testimony.

Spock is being tried with four other men on charges of conspiring to counsel, aid and abet young men to avoid and evade the draft. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and a

Italian Reds make gains

ROME (AP) — Italy's big Communist party Tuesday piled up its greatest vote since World War II in parliamentary elections. But matching Christian Democrat gains assured a continuation of Premier Aldo Moro's center-left majority in both houses of Parliament.

The Communists piled up 8,555,131 votes in Sunday and Monday balloting for the Chamber of Deputies, 26.9 per cent of the total. This was a 1.6 per cent increase in the party's total over the last election in 1963 and gave it 177 seats in the 630-seat Chamber.

Wall said two FBI agents called on Spock at his New York apartment last Dec. 8. The author of the best-selling child-care book discussed with them at some length an interchange of letters with President Johnson.

Spock was quoted as saying he campaigned for Johnson's election in 1964, but became a bitter critic of the President after the escalation of the war in Vietnam. Wall said the agents told Spock they were not interested in his political views, but were interested in his activities regarding the draft.

"Dr. Spock laughed," Wall continued, "and said, 'I'm telling you agents things by which I'll hang myself.'"

On trial with Spock are Yale chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard; Mitchell Goodman, 44, of New York and Temple, Maine, an author and teacher; and Marcus Raskin, collector of the Institute for Political Studies.

LBJ needs more funds for defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Tuesday for authority to spend an extra $3.9 billion on military operations, mainly in Vietnam. Terming it an urgent request, Johnson said speedy approval is needed "so that we can meet our present military commitments effectively and without delay."

If Congress approves the long-anticipated money plea, actual defense outlays in the 1968 fiscal year that ends June 30 will hit $76.2 billion—up $2.5 billion from the January budget estimate.

Defense outlays in the coming bookkeeping year are expected to approach $80 billion.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze told newsmen at the White House more money is needed primarily because of two developments that followed preparation of the January budget: the Communist Tet offensive in South Vietnam and seizure by North Korea of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo on Jan. 23.

Nitze said the great bulk of the $3.9 billion would be tagged for use in Vietnam. But $230 million would be earmarked for Korea and $300 million would go into an emergency fund to meet any unforeseen developments in Asia.

Besides seeking more defense money, Johnson also asked for a supplemental appropriation of $791.6 million to meet mandatory federal pay increases voted by Congress in December. This is in addition to $177 million he asked earlier for the same purpose.

Civilian and military pay boosts will cost $1.5 billion during the current year, but the administration said about $500 million of the total will be absorbed by departments and agencies out of their existing budgets.

Johnson's plea for more defense funds served as a substitute for a more modest appeal he submitted in February. At that time he asked for $1.7 billion more for Vietnam but suggested the increase be offset by transferring funds from other Pentagon accounts.

Nitze conceded that about $1 billion of the anticipated offset has been erased since February, adding further to the need for more money.

State court backs ICC in ruling

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the state had no authority to issue safety regulations aimed at preventing rear end collisions on railroads.

The court, in a 4-3 opinion, said the federal government, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, had sole authority in this area of railroad safety.

The decision invalidated an order of the state's Public Utility Commission which long has required railroads to employ flagmen in addition to mechanical devices whenever a train is halted.

'Get British rascals out'

Busboys in Bermuda politics

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda's busboys vote for the first time on an equal footing with its bankers Wednesday in an election that will give the colony its first autonomous government and essentially leave up to the Negro majority whether the island stays British.

"It won't. We'll win and have the British rascals out in six months to a year," says Walter Robinson, leader of the predominantly Negro Progressive Labor party—PLP. "Just too much has happened here."

Robinson referred to racial rioting last month, dispatch of a Royal Navy frigate and a plane-load of British troops, and a United Nations committee recommendation, rejected by London, that the elections be postponed.

The largely white United Bermuda party—UBP—one-third of whose candidates are Negro, called the PLP irresponsible, "friendly" with the Soviet Union, and likely to scare away the American tourists.

Forty seats in the House of Assembly will be filled. Under a new constitution, the legislature is to handle all the island's affairs except police, foreign relations and defense where the British governor, Lord Marlonmore, retains control.

The voting age has been lowered from 25 to 21 and a system that gave certain property owners an extra ballot has been dropped.

The outcome of the election could be complicated by a third party, the Bermuda Democratic party, BDP, which may force a minority government situation. The BDP is largely Negro, but middle class in orientation, and might side with the UBP.

Because 63 per cent of the island's 50,000 population is Negro, the question of race is a major one. Robinson, who would be virtual prime minister if the PLP won, has charged that many whites were happy about the rioting in April because it created a conservative backlash.

He says that the island's development is manipulated by a small white clique called the Forty Thieves and accuses the British government of "attempted genocide" against the Negro population through birth control laws and the importation of white labor.

Police patience really pays off

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An all-night wait paid off for a special investigations squad on a dope raid—in triplicate.

The raiders went to a North Philadelphia home Monday night and arrested Harold Taylor, 27. They reported finding two pounds of powdered milk sugar and five ounces of quinine hydrochloride, used in diluting heroin.

Four raiders remained in the house overnight. Tuesday they arrested Eleanor Moore, 57, and Harold Cooke, 37. They said they found 1,000 bags of heroin, each worth $75, strapped around Cooke's waist, under his clothing.

RFK, Humphrey to visit state

Candidates eying delegates

HARRISBURG (AP) — Top political agents for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy are scheduled to be in Harrisburg Thursday to woo delegates to the Democratic presidential nominating convention.

Both forces reserved hospitality suites in a downtown hotel prior to Thursday evening's $100-a-plate state Democratic fund-raising dinner at the Farm Show Arena.

Humphrey is to be represented by U. S. Sens. Walter Mondale of Minnesota and Fred Harris of Oklahoma, the co-chairmen of the United Democrats for Humphrey Committee. Mondale, coincidentally, will serve as the featured speaker at the dinner, but aides at the Democratic State Committee insisted that he had been lined up long before Humphrey announced his candidacy.

Kennedy aides in Philadelphia said the New York senator would be represented at a separate reception in the same hotel by Kenneth P. O'Donnell, appointments secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy, and former U. S. Sen. Benjamin Smith.

Smith, a close Kennedy friend filled out John Kennedy's unexpired term in the Senate after the 1960 presidential election.

The Humphrey camp mailed out engraved invitations to 600 persons, including delegates, state committeemen and county chairmen, and listed former Gov. George M. Leader as a host.

The Kennedy bankers apparently were surprised by the scope of the Humphrey reception.

"We just found out today (Tuesday) that Mondale and Harris will be in town," said William Brady, Kennedy's representative in Philadelphia.

"Ours will be a smaller, moderate reception by comparison for committee people, delegates, and whoever else is there."

The Democratic fund-raising dinner, and all the politicking that can be associated with it, marks the first of four days of political activity for both state parties.

Civil Service upholds ouster of Otepka

WASHINGTON (AP) — Otto F. Otepka lost another big round in his five-year battle for his top State Department job Tuesday when the Civil Service Commission upheld his demotion and reprimand by the department.

There was no immediate indication whether Otepka would take the next step open to him, an appeal within 15 days to the Civil Service Board of Review. If he does and loses there he could then take his fight to federal court.

The commission declined to give details of its action until it is certain Otepka has been notified. Word of the decision was made public by his lawyers who received the commission's notification.

The action against Otepka stemmed from charges of improper conduct, the main one that he gave classified loyalty documents to the chief counsel of the Senate internal security subcommittee, Julien G. Sourwine.

In 1963, the State Department suspended and then fired Otepka as its top security evaluator. The action was based on a 1948 decree by President Harry S. Truman that loyalty files of government employees "shall not be transmitted or disclosed except as required in the efficient conduct of business" without presidential authorization.

THINK

Now. A car with a computer in it.

Every Volkswagen Squareback now comes with a computer.

It looks like a box, about a foot wide, and is connected to the engine in 9 places. Let us explain. (Or try to.)

The Volkswagen Squareback is one of the few cars in the world with a fuel injection system.

A computer was designed to control this system. To think for it.

For instance, the computer figures engine speed, engine load and engine temperature.

Then sends precise amounts of fuel and air to each cylinder.

Fuel waste decreases; mileage increases. And you'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.

What you won't get are carburetor problems. There is no carburetor. Nothing to adjust, nothing to clean, nothing to ice.

Only the VW Squareback (and its sister car, the fastback) has a fuel injection system and a thinking computer.

15 boys win spots on LL team

NEWFOUNDLAND — Some 15 boys made a successful bid for places on the Newfoundland Little League team, a member of the Pocono Mountains Little League.

The were Mike Bartleson, Ed Dalrymple, Ray LaVigne, Ralph Shupe, Blaine Strada, Timmy Farnelli, Lee Gilby, Lynn Gilby, Marcel LaVigne, George Schafer, Floyd Schmidt, Allen Shiffer, Bob Bastian, Danny Gifford and Mike Mareks.

Coaches are John Eggert and Cline Dalrymple, while umpires are Tom Peifer, Dough Smith and Ed Gustafson.

A minor league or farm team will be organized by Harry Batzel if present plans work out. He will need assistance, it was noted during the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Athletic Association meeting this week, and volunteers will be welcome.

Volleyball continues for women every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the local school, although plans are now under way to replace this activity with women's softball if enough persons show interest in the sport. In charge are Betty Shiffer, Margaret Beavers and Judy Gearhart.

Some 30 golfers have applied for membership in the Newfoundland Golf League, a part of the GDS A.A. Golfing activity begins on May 22, under the direction of Don Barnes.

The A.A. is planning to give a scholarship to an area resident in the senior class at the Wallenpaupack Area Joint High School who is planning a career in physical education.

A membership drive is under way. Anyone not contacted may join by notifying any member of the A.A.

Herb Peet presided at the May session at the Newfoundland School at which a "good turnout" of members was welcomed.

It was announced that a Big League baseball film will be shown after Little League practice some evening.

Since her arrival in November she has also lived with two other families, Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Arner, Brodheadsville. Miss Guevara will speak for the Neola Grange members at their meeting Monday night.

Some 2,000 evergreen seedlings arrived at Bill Baumgartner's farm, Kunkletown, R.D. 1 as another conservation project. Trees are provided by the Department of Forests and Waters. Tree planting will be done by Baumgartner this week.

The Annual Music and Athletic Awards Banquet will be held today, 6:30 p.m. at Pleasant Valley School. More than 100 individual awards will be presented. Dr. John L. McKeon, chairman of Athletic division, East Stroudsburg State College will be main speaker.

Survey farms for livestock

SWIFTWATER — Farmers in the Pocono Mountain area are being asked to supply pertinent information about livestock in a survey which started Tuesday, the Pocono Postmaster's Assn., announced.

Cards will be delivered to farm mail boxes, selected at random on rural routes served by the area post offices.

These semi-annual surveys are conducted cooperatively each year by the post office and Agriculture Departments and serve as a basis for estimating numbers of livestock on farms; livestock production; the size of the pig, calf, lamb and wool crops; and the number of chickens raised. This information is of considerable importance to farmers, the livestock industry, industries serving agriculture, public agencies and the general public.

Third and fourth grades: Kathleen Russell, first; Mildred Miller, second, and Bevis Miller, third.

Fifth and sixth grades: Laure Miller, first; Jimmy Leister, second, and Michael Hunter, third.

$14,000 increase

Pike County welfare at $239,709

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG — The State Department of Public Welfare revealed Tuesday that public welfare programs of one kind or another in Pike County during the past fiscal year received an estimated $239,709 in state and federal funds.

The $239,709 represents an upswing of $14,751 when compared with the preceding fiscal year during which the county received $224,958 for welfare programs.

TAD worker wins award

TOBYHANNA — Louis Sylvester, Moosic, 38-year-old supply specialist at Tobyhanna Army Depot, has received a $1,000 suggestion award for an idea which it is estimated will save the Army $192,945.

Sylvester suggested that the Army Automotive Command in Warren, Mich., contact the first logistical command in Vietnam to find out if it had an immediate need for 10-ton truck tractors. If it did, a level "C" pack and preservation would be sufficient and would still provide adequate protection in transit.

The command said it needed 300 of the truck-tractors, with the saving coming to $643 on each vehicle.

In general terms, here's how the money was spent in the county public assistance (relief)—$122,046 ($122,613 the previous year); mental health and mental retardation program work—$109,829 ($93,140); children and youth services in the county—$7,707 ($7,239), and services to the blind—$127 ($1,936).

A breakdown of these expenditures during the year in the county shows for example that of the $109,829 spent on mental health program work, $82,010 was underwritten by the state for care, treatment and maintenance of Pike counties in state-owned mental hospitals and psychiatric institutes; $22,018 for the care of mentally retarded in state-owned schools and hospitals; $4,806 as reimbursement to Pike County for interim care of mentally retarded children whose applications have been approved by state schools, and $855 for diagnostic, evaluation and mental health centers and grants to general hospitals for establishment of psychiatric beds.

Children and youth services embraced $2,392 for care of Pike counties in state-operated youth development centers and forestry camps for juvenile delinquents and $5,315 as reimbursement to Pike County for child welfare programs.

Supervised by Penn State University, these production figures compare to the estimated annual output of 8,513 pounds of milk and 315 pounds of butterfat.

Doney wins second award

P.V. student wins camera award

BRODHEADSVILLE — Carl Doney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doney, Kunkletown R.D. 2, was a recipient of the 1968 National Scholastic Photography Award, with one winning entry in black and white.

Doney, a sophomore at Pleasant Valley High School, had three winning entries last year in the Junior Division in the same contest, which is sponsored by Scholastic Magazine and Kodak.

The winning entry subject in the Senior division this year is a pinetree limb with cones silhouetted against a mid-afternoon sky. Doney reproduced an eight by 10 black and white print for the entry.

The award includes $10 for each winning entry, which are also displayed at the First National Bank in New York City.

Doney works with his own 35mm Minolta camera and his own darkroom facility set up at home, and adds to his experience by working with the school's photography equipment. Doney and his student partner, Larry Trach, also do the school photography.

Joseph Schecks, art instructor for the school, encourages all forms of art and supervises a photography club for students like Doney and Trach who show a sincere interest and a definite potential in the art expressions.

Doney said he would like to follow up photography as a profession and study further after working with it since seventh grade.

Pennsylvania's Department of Highways is currently seeking an increase in license fees for motor vehicles, with the income scheduled to be used for highway safety.

The requested increase and expected income are explained in an adjoining article by Robert E. Hetherington, public information officer for the highway department.

As of now, the highway department would like to double passenger car license fees and tack a 30 per cent increase on commercial vehicles. The combined increase would, according to the department, bring an added $65,000,000 into the highway treasury annually.

We are in complete agreement with the highway department's desire to make our highways safer. We also realize that the department is in need of money if any additional highway projects, not on a long-term schedule, are to be inaugurated.

However, we seriously question the 100 per cent increase in license fees until all avenues of income are investigated.

We suggest that a license fee be charged the Amish sect of south central Pennsylvania. True, these people don't drive automobiles, at least not for the record. But, they do travel by horse and buggy.

These horses and buggies use state highways. They hinder traffic throughout the day and at night become truly serious traffic hazards, as the lanterns connected to the side and the rear of the buggy illuminate the vehicle as would two medium sized fire flies.

As long as these vehicles use our roads, they should pay a fee. True, there would be serious objections, filed from a religious, minority group. But, facts are facts.

In the same area many unlicensed farm vehicles use the highways at will and have become an almost unbearable hazard. They have caused traffic tie ups that have ranged for miles.

The farm vehicles using state highways in that area are of a sizeable number and would aid the highway department's income.

We will be the first to admit that income from license fees charged the Amish would be a drop in the bucket. The charge of adequate fees to farm machinery using state highways would result in a second drop.

However, if all avenues of income are thoroughly investigated, we feel that several additional drops may be found and in the course of investigation the bucket will be filled, or at least more nearly filled.

We aren't necessarily pushing for a full $10 license fees for partial highway use, but we feel that everyone should pay on a proportionate basis and thus at least reduce the necessary rate of increase in license fees.

Highway link nearing

Nearly one-third of the 27.7-mile Interstate 81-E is scheduled to be opened before the end of the current year.

Extensive use of split-level design will feature the expressway that cuts diagonally through Monroe, Wayne and Lackawanna counties, providing the northeastern section of Pennsylvania with an expressway to the Poconos and by way of Interstate 80 a shortcut to New York.

Estimated cost for this section of highway is $30,000,000, with total completion tentatively scheduled for 1971.

There are currently 4.2 miles in use, with 17.7 miles under construction and 5.8 miles on the drawing board.

A section in the Scranton area is now in use, as is a short spur connecting Pocono Summit and Interstate 80.

Construction is now underway on a section of the roadway from south of Elmhurst to Pocono Summit.

The section from Tobyhanna to Pocono Summit is scheduled to be completed and ready for traffic this fall.

It will be another chapter completed in the book of improved highways in and around the Pocono Mountains.

Advice From An Expert

The mother of four children was giving some advice to a married girlfriend of hers who was about to have her first baby.

"You've got nothing to worry about," said the mother. "You'll get used to it. When I had my first baby I phoned the doctor every time it sneezed or coughed. But when my youngest swallowed a dime the other day, I just looked at him and said, 'Young man, that money comes out of your allowance!'"

Harris Survey

Majority favors speedy action on racial matters across nation

By LOUIS HARRIS

The response of the people to the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and its aftermath is that progress on racial matters should be speeded up. By a 3-to-2 margin, the number who want to speed things up outweighs those who want to slow things down. Among white people, sentiment for acceleration in race progress is 4-to-3, while among Negroes it is close to 7-to-1.

In this fall's election, the race issue is now likely to be the most volatile and could go a long way toward determining the ultimate outcome. The public was asked a parallel series of questions about each of the most prominently mentioned candidates for president. For each man, people were asked to estimate what they thought that man would do on racial progress if elected.

Here are the results, compared with what the public itself wants to do:

PUBLIC VIEW OF LEADING CANDIDATES ON RACIAL ISSUE IF ELECTED WOULD

Slow down Keep as is Speed up Not sure
Per Cent Per Cent Per Cent Per Cent

Wallace	61	8	5	26
Reagan	24	14	15	47
Nixon	22	30	21	27
McCarthy	8	17	34	41
Rockefeller	8	19	38	35
Humphrey	4	24	46	26
Kennedy	4	8	69	19

PUBLIC'S OWN VIEW
Total	29	19	43	9
Whites	30	18	41	11
Negroes	9	19	61	11

Although public familiarity with the civil rights positions of the candidates shows wide variations, a clear-cut pattern emerges from the results:

— Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California appear to the public to favor slowing down racial progress, out of line with the prevailing views of both whites and Negroes.

— Former Vice President Richard Nixon, the leading contender for the GOP nomination, is widely viewed as standing for the status quo on the race question, with almost precisely the same number feeling he wants to speed things up as believe he would slow them down. In today's public mood, Nixon would appear to be positioned further on the side of caution than the public as a whole in registering racial progress.

— Sizeable percentages of the voters are not certain of the position of either Sen. Eugene McCarthy or Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. However, among those with estimates of their positions, both appear to be closely in line with the dominant public view of race relations.

— Vice President Hubert Humphrey is seen as on the side of speeding things up, a fair degree more than that way the balance of public opinion. He is viewed even more this way in the South.

— Sen. Robert Kennedy's position is viewed as even more on the side of acceleration of racial progress. More than any other candidate, his perceived program on race is closest to that of the rank and file of Negroes. Other tests have consistently shown that Negroes prefer Kennedy to any other potential nominee of either party, and the black vote could be pivotal in next November's election.

A cross section of 1,168 voters was asked early in May:

"What would you like to see done on achieving equality for Negroes — slow things down a lot, slow things down a little, keep things as they are, speed things up a little or speed them up a lot?"

SPEED OF RACIAL PROGRESS

	Total Public Per Cent	Whites Per Cent	Negroes Per Cent
Slow down a lot	13	14	2
Slow down a little	16	16	7
Keep as is	19	18	19
Speed up a little	27	28	20
Speed up a lot	16	13	41
Not sure	9	11	11

Lumping the answers into broader categories, the results are:

Slow	29	30	9
Keep as is	19	18	19
Speed up	43	41	61
Not sure	9	11	11

Strongest feeling about speeding up racial progress exists on the East and West Coasts, among residents of the suburbs, young people under 35 and the college-educated. The most solid pockets advocating a slowdown are among low-income whites and people in rural areas and the South.

New services needed

WASHINGTON — My friend, Freddy Farout, the unsolicited advisor to presidents and governments, came to me recently with an intriguing idea for a brand-new Federal agency. (Ordinarily, men such as Freddy are very popular with the Administration and are highly respected by bureaucrats everywhere.)

"Perhaps you've noticed the vast number of people who are leaving America to start new lives and seek the great opportunities of the Old World," he said. "Never before in our history have we seen such a flow of people from our shores and it is time we did something about it. If we cannot regulate what's happening, at least we should be able to count them as they leave."

Pray continue, I said.

"Very well, here is the picture," he said. "This country was founded by people in Europe seeking relief from oppressively high taxes. Others wanted freedom of religion and the right to pursue happiness. Today in this country, taxes are oppressively high, happiness is at a minimum—thanks to riots, the high crime rate, etc.—and conscientious objectors to the draft even claim there is no freedom of religion.

"So, all the factors which traditionally have caused the movement of peoples from one shore to another are present and, of course, it has begun. Sweden has become a haven for those seeking to avoid conscription into the Army; Switzerland, Lichtenstein, etc., are getting those

Pennsylvania Department Of Highways

What would the doubling of passenger car license fees and increasing commercial vehicle fees about 30 per cent provide for Pennsylvania? Isn't the 100 per cent on car fees against a 30 per cent increase on commercial vehicles unfair?

General Assembly approval of the license fee hike would provide approximately $65 million annually. It would be earmarked for highway safety. The bipartisan State Highway Commission has recommended legislative approval to improve more than 1,200 of the state's highest accident frequency areas.

The State Highway Commission believes the fee hikes are equitable. An example: The license fee on a 60,000-pound gross combination weight tractor-semitrailer is $315 per year, compared to the present $10 per year for automobiles.

Under the proposed tax increases, the fee for above mentioned commercial vehicle would be $415, an increase of $100 while car license fees would go from $10 to $20, an increase of $10. This means that the truck fee will be over 20 times higher than the increased automobile fee.

Also, the United States Bureau of Public Roads estimates that such a tractor-semitrailer combination would pay approximately $1,000 a year in state diesel fuels taxes. On the other hand, it is estimated that a medium sized car would pay approximately $50 a year in gasoline taxes. This means that the same truck would pay approximately 20 times more in fuel taxes than would a private automobile.

Comparative prices

Pennsylvanians have been paying $10 per year for passenger car licenses since 1913, while today Oklahomans pay $41, Californians $39, New Yorkers $26.25 and West Virginians $24.

Highway safety is uppermost in the minds of Pennsylvania's nine-member bipartisan Highway Commission, yet its first major effort to improve high accident frequency areas has been stalled by the lack of support.

It will cost money, and to date Pennsylvanians generally have shown a tendency to take their chances rather than pay $10 annually to improve their survival ratio on the highway.

Statistics show that during 1967, highway deaths totaled 2,335. The figure is increasing at the rate of approximately 100 per year. Another 120,000 were injured. Property damage, insurance payments and time lost from work exceeded an estimated $800 million. Total accidents exceeded 250,000.

Hazardous areas

Pennsylvania's 1,698 most hazardous accident areas have been recorded with the aid of computers in the Highways Department's Accident Analysis Division. Monies received from the fee increase would be earmarked to improve these high accident areas.

Even if the recommended license fee increases were approved it would take at least six years to make the necessary improvements. Fee increases will total about $65 million annually. Cost of improving the 1,498 projects is estimated at $390 million.

"We cannot and must not ignore the local roads — the 'bread and butter' lines that take us to and from work, our schools, our markets," said Gov. Raymond P. Shafer in his highway message to the General Assembly. He added, "We must make new and dramatic efforts to improve these roads for our comfort, economy and, above all, our safety."

Ten dollars is a small price to pay to reduce the motorists' high risk of loss of life, serious injury, time from work, or heavy property damage while operating today's vehicle of necessity.

This fee would be the price paid annually by each passenger car owner for a major program which carries as its only objective the improvement of Pennsylvania's most hazardous highway spots. A $120 million program to improve 1,290 high accident areas was recommended one year ago by the bipartisan State Highway Commission. One construction year already has passed without action, and another is rapidly coming to a close. Another $270 million safety program is under consideration by the commission.

Staggering statistics

During 1967, vehicle accidents in Pennsylvania exceeded 250,000. Lost in the accidents were 2,235 lives. Another 122,000 people were injured. Medical bills, insurance payments, property damage and income loss was a staggering $800 million.

Talk about "Why don't we do something about it?" increases, while corrective action is at a standstill. Meanwhile, vehicle accident statistics continue their climb. The number who lost their lives was an increase of 109, or two per week, over the previous year.

Improvements mean money, but can we afford not to reduce the risk of life, limb, loss of work and suffering every time we enter a car? There has been no license fee increase since World War II (1943).

Gov. Shafer has placed the responsibility in the hands of legislators, regardless of party affiliation, but the lack of motorist support continues to overshadow the average daily loss of six lives and injuries to another 315 people.

Quiet Man at White House

He's the Quiet Man. Sometimes, in the late evening, he sits alone in a parked car inside the White House gate, watching people come and go. At other times, he is at Secret Service Headquarters at 1800 G. St., reading reports or issuing orders in that soft friendly tone. His name is James J. Rowley and he has just completed 30 years of government service.

He's a medium-sized man with a blue-eyed Irish kisser and white hair. He has two expressions: one is tight-lipped and grim, the other is a boyish grin. He's 70 per cent listen; 30 per cent talk. Chief Rowley has known all the presidents from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Lyndon Johnson and he has known them well.

It was John F. Kennedy who appointed him Director of the United States Secret Service. That's the president they lost. The agents have lived with that fact since November 22, 1963, and it's a hard one. They have played all the infinitesimal events backwards and forwards many times, and they realize that there is no way in which they can challenge all the people at all the windows in a motorcade.

A large segment of the population thinks that the primary purpose of the Secret Service is to protect presidents. It isn't. The S.S. is a subordinate arm of the Treasury Department. It was created in 1835 to suppress counterfeiting. In those days, one out of every three bills in circulation was spurious. In 1906, after Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley had been killed by assassins, congress authorized the Secret Service to protect the American Chief of State.

Long line

Today, the agents protect the president and his family; the vice president and his family; the next person in line of succession to the presidency; former presidents and their wives; and the widows and children of presidents to a period of four years after they leave office, or die in office. Congress is now trying to enlarge the duties to include all candidates for president.

Sooner or later, all presidents chafe under protection. When the light in the president's bedroom goes out, portable beep telephones carry the word to Secret Service agents at other stations that the president has retired. When he emerges in the morning, agents fall into step beside him. The word goes out that he has just left his bedroom.

Normally, Rowley has agents working with

Doctor, I'd like to know

I have had a special type of operation on the ear to close up a puncture or perforation of the eardrum. I have had considerable difficulty with my ears from childhood on. The operation was probably successful but the feeling of fluid and pressure still bothers me. When I ask my doctor about the cause of this and the ringing in the ear he says, "I don't know." I am dissatisfied with my doctor's answer and I feel that there must be more logical answers to these questions. I don't know where to turn.

Mrs. D. T., New York

Dear Mrs. T.: It has been only ten years since delicate surgery on the ear was first performed under a microscope for conditions like yours. We have learned much about how to relieve deafness in very special cases. Perforations of the ear that formerly could never be closed are now being repaired by an operation called tympanoplasty. Some of the results are spectacular, yet there are thousands of questions for which there are still no answers.

I am very much impressed by your doctor's mature and adult ability to say to his patients "I don't know" when he doesn't know.

Children should be rich

In reading a story the other day about America's centimillionaires, I was surprised to note that out of a list of 153 persons in the United States who have a net worth of more than $100 million, none of them were children.

Then it occurred to me that most of the moneyed mini-people were shrewd enough to hide their wealth in their leddy bears, thus avoiding paying taxes on it!

The affluence of today's youth is not to be taken lightly. Paper routes, baby sitting, pumping gas, snow shovelling, grass cutting, and grocery toting, plus the American institution called the weekly allowance, have elevated children to a new independence.

We pay our nine-year-old 25 cents a week. For 25 cents a week, he dribbles coffee grounds over the kitchen, lets the garbage stagnate in the garage, flips the dish towel on his sister's hindside, makes his bed using only one hand, allows the milk to sour and/or freeze (depending on the season,) and is civil with some degree of regularity. He is overpaid by 23 cents.

Highly probable
It is highly probable that adults are responsible for this "money talks" attitude. This does not soften the blow when you come face-to-face with the monster you've created.

Last week, we purchased a new clothes dryer for the out-of-doors . . . the umbrella type that takes up little space. We had the hole in the ground from the previous one . . . the trick was to find it.

"Go find the hole," said my husband to the nine-year-old.

The kid put down his Wall Street Journal and asked, "How much?"

"How much what?"

"You don't expect me to go out and crawl around in the grass for nothing, do you?"

"You roll around in it all day playing baseball, don't you?"

"That's different," he said, "That's play. This is work. Finding a hole that's grown over isn't going to be easy. I'll have to call in some of the fellas, organize them in a Mushroom and Celery salad is light in calories for the weight-watcher.

By LINDA PIPHER

For calorie counters

Mushrooms: flavor vs fat

STROUDSBURG — A good tailor may be able to hide a few pounds of overweight on a man, but women's clothes reveal even the slightest bulge. In our country there are more piggies than Twiggies, and especially with the shorts and bathing suit weather approaching most of us are calorie conscious.

If you like mushrooms (and I can't imagine anyone not liking them!) you're in luck for these delectable morsels have so few calories. Packed they have less than a third the calories of uncreamed cottage cheese, and less than one-ninth the calories of regular ground hamburger.

If you're a compulsive nibbler, eat mushrooms raw — they can easily get to be a good habit. Or team them with leafy greens or celery for a flavorful but low-calories salad. Simmer them in a little beef or chicken stock and add a bit of onion and oregano, "the mushroom herb." Add them to lean meat, fish, seafood, well-seasoned aspics. Use mushrooms to replace higher calorie foods — for example, they are an excellent extender of meat loaf.

Mushrooms are a relatively good source of the following individual nutrients, substances we need even when we're cutting down on calories: protein, phosphorus, iron, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin.

First I have three mushroom recipes with calorie count:

Mushroom and Celery Salad
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms
2 cups diced celery
2 1/2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
1/4 teaspoon instant garlic powder

Slice mushrooms (makes 2 1/2 cups). Combine mushrooms and celery in salad bowl. Mix oil, lemon juice, salt, sugar, white pepper, onion salt and garlic powder. Shake well. Pour over mushrooms and celery, coating well. Serve on lettuce lined salad plates. Yields six portions, approximately 66 calories per portion.

Herbed Mushrooms
1/2 pound small fresh mushrooms
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) beef broth, undiluted
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground thyme
One-sixteenth teaspoon ground black pepper

Trim stem ends of mushrooms and put whole into broth in a saucepan (about three cups mushrooms). Add remaining ingredients and bring to boiling point. Reduce heat, cover and simmer five minutes. Serve immediately. Yields three portions, 17 calories per portion.

Mushroom Burgers
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms
1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon powdered mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon instant garlic powder

Chop fresh mushrooms (makes 1 1/2 cups) and combine with beef, onion, salt, mustard, black pepper and garlic powder. Shape into six patties. Broil five inches from source of heat four to five minutes; turn and broil until done. Yields six burgers, 212 calories per burger.

If you don't have to worry about calories, saute mushrooms in butter until browned and serve just as a vegetable

(one of our favorites). Sprinkle them with salt while they are cooking.

For those of you who are not calorie conscious, make this flavorful quiche for a supper dish. Gruyere cheese, by the way, can be purchased as small one ounce wedges packaged in a round box at your dairy counters. Use four of them for this recipe:

Mushroom Quiche
2 1/2 cups (about 1/2 pound) fresh mushrooms, sliced
8 slices bacon, cut into one-inch slice pieces
One-third cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
4 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup heavy cream
3/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground mace
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell with a deep edge
1/4 pound Gruyere cheese, grated

In large skillet, cook bacon pieces until crisp. Remove bacon and reserve. Remove all but about three tablespoons fat from pan; reserve. Add onion to skillet; cook over low heat until limp and transparent. Add mushrooms to onion; cook two to three minutes. Add remaining bacon fat if necessary. Blend in flour. In a large bowl combine beaten eggs, cream, milk, salt, mace and black pepper. Sprinkle crisp bacon over pie shell. Top with grated cheese and mushroom mixture. Pour egg mixture over all. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven 15 minutes. Reduce heat to a slow 300 degree and bake 40 minutes longer or until custard is set (stick silver knife in center of pie; when it comes out clean it is set). Serve hot.

Commissioners to speak at GOP Council meeting

STROUDSBURG — A panel on the duties of the Monroe County Commissioners marked the May meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Elwood Hintze and Nancy Shukaitis accepted the invitation; Arlington Martin declined.

Hintze outlined the duties and responsibilities of the commissioners reaching into all phases of local government. Economy was his keynote. Since spending could amount to three or four times the annual income, priorities must be established to set up a workable

Cherry Lane
WCS sets date
for bazaar

CHERRY LANE — Mrs. William Cron continued her study on the religions of the world at the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Cherry Lane Methodist Church, at the home of Mrs. Frank Snyder.

Mrs. Cron also told of her visit to a small Methodist Church in Ireland when she was there at Easter.

Mrs. Ben Matheis presided at the business meeting. Date for the annual bazaar was set for July 27 on the church lawn, to be moved into the church basement in case of rain. Contributions for the bazaar should be brought to the next meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Pauline Snyder.

Mrs. Everitt
president of BPWC

STROUDSBURG — Millicent Everitt was elected president of the Business and Professional Woman's Club at their meeting at the Beaver House.

Also elected were Hazel Kaniper, first vice president; Janet Rice, second vice president; Gladys McCabe, recording secretary; Madge Baker, corresponding secretary and Mary Ann Lesh, treasurer.

Frances Everitt was appointed to the educational loan fund. Mrs. Everitt was also elected as a delegate to the national convention to be held in Minneapolis, Minn. in July with Janet Rice as alternate.

Hilda Kitzman, club advisor, held a candlelight service of initiation for new members.

Nancy Shukaitis, county commissioner, described a typical day in the commissioners office and the duties and official acts of the commissioners. She urged more women to come into the political fold. The program was arranged by Doris Otto and Edna Brockman of the public relations committee.

Willita Rogalski, retiring president, presided at the meeting. Hazel Kaniper reported on the Spring conference at Gennett's Hazelton. The State convention will be held at the Pittsburgh Hilton July 14-16.

Representing the club will be Millicent Everitt, Hazel Kaniper, Betty Peckman, Leona Lesione, Josephine Manchester, Hilda Kitzman, Anna Sorenson and Willita Rogalski.

Firemen fete
ladies; plan
June open house

DELAWARE WATER GAP — The men of the Delaware Water Gap Fire Co. prepared and served a buffet dinner for their auxiliary at a joint meeting held at the firehouse.

At the meeting plans were made for an open house for all residents of the borough to be held June 9 to inspect the new fire trucks.

Plans were also made for a picnic for both groups at Pardee's Place on the Delaware on Aug. 11 and for a rummage sale to be held in October.

Book Club has review of Masi book

STROUDSBURG — Miss Bonnie DeMein reviewed "Nicholas and Alexandra" by Robert Masi, at the meeting of the Book Club at the home of Mrs. Michael Chaffier.

The book is a treasury of Russian history during the reign of Nicholas and details his attempts to continue the policy of his father and to better the living conditions of the Russian people.

Despite good intentions, his hesitations and vacillations contributed to the rising tide of the revolution of 1917 which led to the assassination of the Tsar and his family.

Dance revue to benefit
MS fund

STROUDSBURG — The pupils of Shirley's Studio of Dance will present a dance revue for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of America on Sunday afternoon, May 26, at 2:30 p.m. at Stroudsburg High School.

The revue "On a Wonderful Day" will open with a new dance group, The Golden Girls. The program will include the following scenes: "Good Ship Lollipop," "Satan Takes a Holiday," "Davey Jones Locker," and "Destination Moon".

Students from 3 to 18 will participate in the show.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Distance makes the heart grow fonder — especially when both parties, far from home base, meet in the midst of strangers. I certainly got a warm reception from the local contingent when I stopped in at the newspaper meeting at the Nittany Lion in Penn State on Saturday night.

"Imagine me making a fuss over Bobby Westbrook when I don't even speak to her for days on end at the office," marveled Gil Murray. But any of you who have found yourself greeting a slight acquaintance from home, like a long lost friend when you meet unexpectedly in the city, will understand.

The guests at the Martin Walzer's party at Shawnee on Saturday night, had more solid basis for excitement, since among the guests was their son-in-law, Arnold Palmer; his wife, the former Winnie Walzer; and their two charming daughters.

The rain which had plagued the exhibition golf match at Pocono Manor almost drowned the arriving guests and provided sound effects for the buffet which had been set up on the big porch, but the guests were all counting themselves lucky.

There was plenty of complaining about the Emmy awards program though. Not so much about the winners as about the production itself, which gave the effect of the "Sweet Adelines" stage of a marathon cocktail party.

I didn't like Sinatra's jokes, Dick Van Dyke's jokes all seemed to be strictly private, the squeals drowned out the names of the winners, and, technically, they seem to do better with Telstar.

Israeli fashion students'
designs in coming show

BUSHKILL — One of the things which make the Hadassah Wyckoff annual fashion show unique is the presentation of fashions from Israel, made by young students of the Alice L. Seligberg Vocational High School for girls in Israel.

This year's show will be held June 5 at the Fernwood in Bushkill with two showings: one a combination luncheon-afternoon show; the other an evening show with an option of dinner beforehand.

The Seligberg Vocational High School, named for a founder and former national president of Hadassah, is one of the early projects of Hadassah to prepare the young people of Israel for careers in trade and industry.

The program, initiated in 1942 during the great surge of immigration and rehabilitation, has been successful in the vocational high school which offers a full four-year course, combining vocational training with academic subjects.

Included are courses in homemaking, dressmaking, secretarial studies, arts and crafts and dental and laboratory assistants. From this school each year, fashion are prepared by students in the dressmaking course and sent on tour around the United States. The students are encouraged to plan the garments from the weaving of the cloth, through the design to the actual fitting of the finished product.

The designs of the youthful students are woven into wools, metallic brocades and embroidered shiffon. The Yemenite girls work silver designs and embroidery stitches passed down in the families for generations.

Now in its 25th year, the school's earlier graduates are taking their place in the growing fashion industry in Israel. Their fashions can be found in stores around the world.

However, the designs of this year's students to be shown at the fashion show are for exhibition purposes only.

Reservations for the luncheon may be calling Mrs. Sumar Schwartz or Mrs. Anthony Ciliberti at the home of Mrs. Sidney Katz.

Dinner reservations are being made with Mrs. Arthur Zimmerman and Mrs. Sidney Cohen. Deadline for luncheon and dinner reservations is May 27.

Tickets may be purchased at Wyckoff Gift-Wrap department or Kusters store in East Stroudsburg. Tickets for the fashion show only are available for the night showing only.

Following the installation, a play will be presented at 8:15 by Mrs. Marie Rutl and Mrs. Janet Arnold. The play was presented successfully at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

The public is invited, including husbands and children.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

To be a good dummy player you have to cultivate the habit of making assumptions. In most cases you assume the opponents' cards are unfavorably divided, and you shape your play to try to protect against that possibility. At other times you are forced to assume that the opponents' cards are favorably divided, because that is your only hope of making the contract.

Either way, you are sure to be wrong quite often. This does not necessarily mean you have made a mistake; it merely means you made a reasonable assumption which did not mature.

Let's say West leads the spade queen against three no-trump, and, in an effort to sever East-West communication, you duck in both hands. West leads another spade, which you win in dummy with the king. You now lead a low club to the queen, West taking the king and returning still another spade.

East discards a heart as you win with the ace. When you then lead a club, East takes the ace and returns a heart. You win in dummy with the jack and cash two club tricks, on which East discards another heart and a low diamond, after which you cash the A-K of hearts to reduce your hand to three cards, all diamonds. Dummy and East are also down to three diamonds each.

All along you have had it in the back of your mind that the contract could not be made if West was the player with the king of diamonds, so you therefore assumed East had it.

In line with this you lead a low diamond at this point and play the eight from dummy when West follows low. East wins with the nine, but he cannot avoid leading a diamond away from the K-7. As a result, you make the last two tricks and the contract.

J. E. Serfass, Saylorsburg, dies at 87

SAYLORSBURG — James E. Serfass, Sr., 87, of Saylorsburg, died at his home Tuesday morning.

Born in Little Washington, Kunkletown R.D. 1, he was the son of the late Adam and Melinda Gregory Serfass.

Serfass and his wife had celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary last December. During their first years of marriage he was a farmer in Brodheadsville, later moving to Saylorsburg where he was a blacksmith for 11 years. He then turned to ice cream making and became famous for his "Serfass" ice cream in this area.

He was also a former restaurant operator for 23 years in Saylorsburg; in the Christmas tree business for 48 years; instrumental in starting the first electric light company in the area, and a former school director in Ross Township.

He was a member of the Hamilton Lutheran Church; the Pen Argyl Lodge 594, F&AM; charter member of both Lehigh Consistory and Washington Camp 327, POS of A, Saylorsburg; Fort Penn Lodge 134, Odd Fellows, Stroudsburg.

Serfass was the last living charter member of the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Fire Co. of Saylorsburg.

He is survived by his widow, the former Clara Newhart; four sons: Harry of Stroudsburg; Willard, Russell and James, Jr., all of Saylorsburg; one daughter, Mrs. Katherine Christian, Saylorsburg; nine grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren.

Also one sister, Mrs. Rosa Butts, Saylorsburg.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Kresge Funeral Home in Brodheadsville, with the Rev. David Serfass and the Rev. Adan Bohner officiating.

Burial will be in the Lakeview Cemetery, Saylorsburg.

Friends and relatives may call Friday after 7 p.m. in the funeral home, with Masonic services at 8 p.m.

Bensinger burial held

EAST STROUDSBURG — A Burial Office and Requiem Eucharist was celebrated for Mrs. Lucy Bensinger, 128 South Green St., East Stroudsburg, Tuesday, in the Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg, with the Rev. Charles A. Park, celebrant, and assisted by the Rev. Thomas C. Shoemith.

Burial was in the Laurelwood Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Charles Buehler, Russell Imb, Jr., Howard Keiper, Jr., Harold J. Pine, J. Douglas Ritchie, Joseph Small, Philip Williams and E. Holt Wyckoff.

The William H. Clark Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Lot boundary in dispute

STROUDSBURG — A Stroudsburg couple started an equity action in Monroe County Court Tuesday seeking to prevent an adjoining property owner of building past a disputed boundary line.

Morris J. and Ida W. Newman, through their attorneys, Mervine, Brown and Newman, claim that Robert J. and Mary M. Jewell are constructing a building which blocks entrance to their property at 308 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The Newmans are seeking an injunction stopping the defendants from continuing the construction. They also want the obstruction removed and seek damages.

Gearhart faces charge

STROUDSBURG — Formal charges of prison breach will be brought against Edward Gearhart Thursday afternoon, before Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace Floyd Kellogg.

Gearhart is charged with escaping from the Monroe County Jail along with a companion, William Korocy, who was later killed in an automobile accident.

Gearhart was also injured in the accident and remained in the General Hospital of Monroe County for several weeks.

Reese visits Rocky group

STROUDSBURG — Dr. Evan C. Reese, Monroe County Republican chairman, will attend a meeting of the Pennsylvania Committee in Harrisburg Friday and Saturday.

Among Rockefeller supporters who will be present are Sen. Thurston Morton.

Henry J. Heinz and U.S. Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli are co-chairmen of Pennsylvania's Rockefeller.

Reese said he has not made up his mind about supporting a Republican candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Tobyhanna girl to compete for student nurse award

EASTON — Jacqueline Reddicks of Tobyhanna, chosen the "Outstanding Student Nurse" at the Easton Hospital School of Nursing, will compete with candidates from eight other nursing schools for the area title in Reading, today. The competition will take place at a meeting of Area Two of the Student Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel.

Miss Reddicks, a junior, was selected as the Easton representative from among four nominees from each class on the basis of a paper outlining her philosophy of life. The students' papers were judged by a panel consisting of a doctor, a lawyer, a graduate nurse, a clergyman, and the hospital's director of volunteer services, who also questioned the candidates on their philosophies.

A 1966 graduate of Pocono Mountain Junior-Senior High School, Miss Reddicks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reddicks of Tobyhanna Village.

Delaware commission acts

Action on toll-free bridges deferred

TRENTON — Seven members of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission have asked the New Jersey State Legislature and Gov. Richard Hughes to defer action on a bill that would approve an agreement between the commission and the federal government to build toll-free bridges in the Easton-Phillipsburg and Burlington-Bristol areas.

The bill, which passed the Senate last week, instructs Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg to carry out the agreement which was approved by the commission at its last two meetings.

The agreement ended a five-year stalemate between the commission and the Federal Bureau of Roads on construction of Interstate Route 78 bridge south of Easton.

New Jersey Senator Wayne Dumont, Jr., who tried unsuccessfully to block the bill last week, said commission members told him building the two bridges toll-free would necessitate at least a 300 per cent increase on commutation tolls on existing toll bridges.

Goldberg said an increase would be necessary if the 1-78 bridge was built toll free, but added he did not know what the new toll would be.

An unidentified commission member said he thought the new toll would probably be 75 cents.

An unidentified commission member said he thought the new toll for one ticket in a book of 40 tickets would be raised five cents, from the present 2.5 cents a ticket to 7.5 cents a ticket. The present price for a book for 40 tickets is $1

Johnny Eaton playing Syn-Ket

LOS ANGELES — When Igor Stravinski's "Rites of Spring" premiered in Paris in 1917 the audience broke up theatre seats in true riotous fashion.

Last week Composer-Pianist John Eaton, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton of East Stroudsburg, unveiled his Syn-Ket in U.C.L.A.'s Royce Hall. No one took over the concert hall or demonstrated; the audience simply sat back in their seats and listened to the organ-rich tones and confetti-like descending trills.

The 33-year-old Eaton played his Concert Piece for Syn-Ket and Symphony Orchestra assisted by Conductor Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Eastern Synod to consider division

BUCK HILL, PA. — The 220-year-old Eastern Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod launched a debate Tuesday on whether its 19-county territory should be divided during the second day of a convention at Buck Hill Falls.

The 800 clergymen and lay delegates at the annual synod convention here heard the report of a committee on structure which called for dividing the territory into a five-county Philadelphia Metropolitan Synod and a Northeast Pennsylvania Synod of 14 upstate counties.

The Rev. Dr. William Horn of St. John's Lutheran Church of Philadelphia and chairman of the committee, said the division was needed "to deal with the problems of our territory."

Dr. Horn and others favoring the split said it was needed so that the member churches could concentrate on urban problems in the Philadelphia area and rural problems in the upstate region.

The present synod is the oldest and by far the largest of the 32 synods in the Lutheran Church in America. It has about 372,000 baptized members.

Drug case starts today

STROUDSBURG — The Commonwealth's case against two East Stroudsburg residents charged with possession of marijuana is expected to start in Monroe County Court today.

The defendants are William Battle and Georgia Morris. Battle will be represented by Atty. Peter J. O'Brien and Miss Morris by Atty. J. Joseph McCluskey.

A third defendant in the case, Percy Harris, will be tried separately and that trial is expected to start Friday. Harris will be represented by Atty. Milton Leidner, Philadelphia.

The charges stem from a raid police made on an East Stroudsburg apartment in 1967.

three tiny keyboards, looks like a toy piano hooked up to a telephone switchboard. It's the first machine capable of performing electronic music "live" in the concert hall.

Syn-Ket can approximate known instrumental and noninstrumental sounds. "An adventure in sound," Mehta said after the performance.

Larceny trial continues

STROUDSBURG — A Monroe County jury is expected to receive a case today involving a larceny charge against a former employee of a West End resort.

Tuesday, the Commonwealth presented its case against Ralph B. Brown, who is charged with stealing a strongbox containing about $250 in Honeymoon Hideaway, near Kresgeville.

Asst. District Attorney Philip Santucci is expected to call two rebuttal witnesses to the stand today before the case goes to the jury.

Court-appointed defense attorney J. Joseph McCluskey put the defendant on the stand Tuesday and he denied stealing the box with the money.

Ed Glausser, owner of the resort, testified that he saw the defendant near one of the resort's doors early in morning Oct. 22, 1967, but said that Brown did not enter the building.

Brown, who is presently in Monroe County jail, said he had keys to the resort. It was pointed out that entry was made by forcing a door.

Brown was arrested by State Police from Lehighton.

Three ESSC coeds among 18 arrested

BETHLEHEM — Three East Stroudsburg State College coeds were among 18 college students arrested Saturday night when Bethlehem police raided a party.

Arrested and charged with breach of the peace were Judith Harsh, 21, Waverly; Louise Denight, Phoenixville, and Patricia Stress, 22, Callicoon, N.Y.

Police said the 12 women and six men were freed after posting $34 bail on each charge.

Police raided an apartment occupied by Lehigh University students and said they found six young people drinking and a half barrel of beer in the kitchen.

Police said the under-age students have also been charged with illegal possession of alcoholic or malt beverages.

The other students came from Lafayette and Bucknell.

Lora Ludlow, left, and Mari Blewitt, along with the rest of the East Stroudsburg High School Band rehearse for the Spring Concert to be held Saturday at 8 p.m. The event will mark the farewell performance of band director, Robert Zellner, who has resigned.

Entering float not easy

CANADENSIS — The Barrett Township Lions Club prize-winning float "Percy's Priceless Plumbing" needed more than a plumber to put it back in shape for a Lions District parade in Scranton Sunday.

One of its two inventors, John Vanderweel, of Canadensis was at loose ends over the abortive attempt to get "Percy's Priceless Plumbing" on the road. Vanderweel had some justification for feeling let down. Vanderweel is a plumber by trade.

The other inventor, James Manhart of Canadensis said he stripped a timing gear when he tried to start the 1928 Model "A" Ford. He and Vanderweel searched in vain for another gear which was about as hard to find as a worm gear for a Stutz Bearcat.

Initial preparations for assembling the float were loaded to the rafters with difficulties. An outhouse from a hunting camp was brought back through the woods on a tractor trailer to Manhart's backyard. The outhouse is a main fixture on the float and a source of pride and joy to the two inventors.

When the inventors realized that the Model A just wouldn't start there was some question

Authority postpones meet

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County postponed its meeting Tuesday, due to several of the members being out of town.

The Authority will reschedule the meeting at a date sometime within a week.

as to what to do with the outhouse. The outhouse probably won't be used until 1971 when the Lions Club District 14-K which includes Monroe County will be host for the annual convention.

The outhouse enjoyed full occupancy when the float won a prize in last year's Halloween Parade in Barrett. But later misfortune struck the outhouse and the float when on returning to Canadensis from the parade the float caught fire not once but twice.

Quick thinking on the part of the two inventors saved the float and the outhouse. They ran down to a creek and smothered the flames with the wet blankets. It was not known whether the outhouse was occupied at the time of the fire.

California man held for bad checks

CLARKS SUMMIT — John R. Peterson of California, stepped out the side door at Scranton Country Club in Clarks Summit and was arrested by Constable John Bensley of East Stroudsburg R.D., Tuesday night.

Bensley was assisted by Deputy Constable James Shaffer, Pocono Record reporter, who was deputized enroute, and two detectives from the Scranton Police Department.

Bensley had a warrant for Peterson's arrest for a worthless check on a complaint from authorities at Holiday Inn, East Stroudsburg.

On the way to Scranton, Bensley stopped at Mount Pocono Justice of the Peace Mrs. Emma Merwin and picked up a second warrant for the same charge. This was on the complaint of Jack Cuttle, Pocono Manor golf professional.

Scranton Police had been alerted by Bensley that he was on his way to Scranton to apprehend Peterson and Bensley was assisted by detectives Anthony Gach and Frank Glynn.

One of two men who had played golf with Peterson Tuesday afternoon at Scranton Country Club, was called out and told of the situation.

Peterson stepped from the building and handcuffs were placed on his wrists.

Peterson stood in disbelief while Bensley read the information on the warrants. Peterson was advised of his rights and then searched for any concealed weapons. There were none.

Peterson and Bensley spoke briefly about football. Bensley asked, "Do you play football anymore?"

Peterson replied, "Not anymore." It is reported that he had told several persons in Monroe County and Scranton that he was a player for the Los Angeles Rams.

In Mount Pocono, Bensley stopped at Mrs. Merwin's, where Peterson was advised of his rights again.

Mrs. Merwin set bail at $1,000 and gave Bensley commitment papers.

Bensley took Peterson to Middle Smithfield Twp. Justice of the Peace Thomas Flynn, where his rights were explained a fourth time and the charge made by Holiday Inn read to him.

Flynn set bail at $500 and committed Peterson to jail in default of bail.

The checks returned total approximately $385.

ESSC trustee named to state group

EAST STROUDSBURG — Martin S. Baldwin has been appointed representative for the Board of Trustees of East Stroudsburg State College on the Association of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State Colleges.

One representative from each of the state colleges makes up the executive committee. This committee consists of presidents of the state colleges, superintendents of public instruction and directors of teacher education as honorary members.

The object of the association is to stimulate interest in the teacher education program throughout the state; to become acquainted with the problems and opportunities of the state colleges through conferences; to render assistance and help to the institutions and to the department of public instruction.

The next meeting of the state executive committee will be held in Harrisburg May 23.

Tocks passes House without any further slashing of funds

Record Washington Bureau

STROUDSBURG — The House Tuesday afternoon passed a $1.4 billion Interior Appropriations Bill containing a $4 million appropriation for the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area.

The bill, which passed by a vote of 364-14, was unchanged from that reported out by the Appropriations committee late last week. An attempt to recommit the bill and reduce the total appropriation by $1.3 billion over 3 years was defeated by a vote of 174-207.

The Interior Appropriations subcommittee had previously slashed the appropriation for the Delaware Water Gap Recreation Area by $1.5 million, part of a total cut of more than $143 million. These cuts were attributed by a member of the committee to the general economy mood of congress.

Reps. John Dow (D-NY) and Joseph M. McDade (R-PA) both of whose districts are affected by the proposed park, voted against the cut and for the bill. Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-NJ) had to be absent because of business in New Jersey and did not vote.

The funds appropriated to the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area are designated for land acquisition. Later this week, the house will consider legislation to supplement the land and water conservation fund, a fund to be used for the advance acquisition of land for parks, with revenues from oil and gas leases on the outer continental shelf.

The Senate recently passed this legislation but struck out the part which would have channeled these revenues into the fund.

A Senate appropriations subcommittee is still considering appropriations for the Interior Department. Although this panel has completed its hearings, no legislation has been reported out by the committee to date.

4-H club members enter competition

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County 4H Club members will be filling out "Blue form" applications of their achievements to enter the National 4H Awards program.

The program was discussed Tuesday night in the YMCA by E. Anne Lott, and Dawne Sensinger, of the county extension service.

Of the 25 categories available, county 4Hers showed interest and will apply in the following 12 areas: dairy, poultry, electric, entomology, photography, food nutrition, clothing, forestry, health, home economics, home furnishings, and horses.

The contest consists solely of the 4-H candidate from a written record of his achievements to include: Projects with years and ribbons; talks to 4H and other groups; news stories, exhibits; a summary of activity in citizenship, community service, conservation, public speaking, recreation, safety and others; also showmanship, demonstrations and judging events with years of participation and awards; state regional and national events attended.

The 4H candidate also evaluates his own project work including a personal story of his 4H life.

Members can apply for any two of the 25 categories. Four will be selected for each category on the county level. These four will receive county medals. The top county winner in each category then is eligible to compete on the state level.

After state selections are made, ten final winners are chosen. The highest score in the state gets an expense paid trip to the National 4H Congress in Chicago.

Each category is sponsored by a national company. Some 50 companies and foundations support the awards program, with 294 educational and scholarships and fellowships amounting to $18,600 awarded at the national level. Some 1400 4H'ers will be receiving a paid trip to the congress.

3 teenagers hurt in crash in West End

SAYLORSBURG — Three teenagers were injured Tuesday at 6:25 p.m. on the Kunkletown to Saylorsburg highway. Two are in guarded condition in General Hospital of Monroe County. The third was treated and released.

In guarded condition are Linda R. Berwick, 16, of Saylorsburg, driver of the car, and Keith Matlock, 12, also of Saylorsburg. A list of injuries was not available from the hospital.

Treated and released was Glen Altemose, 13, of Saylorsburg. He and Matlock were passengers in the Berwick car.

According to State Police from Stroudsburg, the car was traveling toward Saylorsburg. As it topped the crest of a hill the driver swerved to her left to avoid hitting a farm tractor. The driver ran off the left side of the highway, lost control of the car, came back on the highway, rolled over twice and came to a stop on its roof.

Operetta at Clearview, today, Thursday

STROUDSBURG — "The Land of Dreams come true", is the operetta that will be performed by the combined 137 voice chorus of Arlington Heights and Clearview schools today and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Clearview school. Today is reserved for Clearview school audiences and Thursday night will be for Arlington Heights. All others are invited to attend either performance.

This is the first operetta to be given by these schools. The chorus will be directed by Miss Patricia Ungemach, music teacher, accompanied by Mrs. Elda Vanderslice, former music teacher.

Thieves grab valuable items

MOUNT POCONO — State Police at Mount Pocono Tuesday released information on a burglary that occurred early Monday morning.

According to police, the Game Commission shed on Rt. 423 was broken into and approximately $1,500 worth of articles were stolen.

The articles included chain saws, chains, truck tires, grinders, drills and tools.

STROUDSBURG — Practice pays off. When Glenn R. Bisbing, Jr., was only a four-year-old, he hefted a bat to his shoulders and stood facing his father's pitches.

At eight, the young ballplayer was in a little league uniform, played through high school and college.

Tuesday night Glenn Bisbing, Jr., signed to play major league baseball with the Cincinnati Reds organization for a "sizeable bonus."

Reds' Eastern Scout Joseph Bowen announced Tuesday night that the former Stroudsburg High star and Rider College standout would start playing ball this summer with the Reds' organization as a member of the Sioux Falls Packers.

Bisbing, who led Rider College this year as a catcher with a whopping .338 batting average, will leave June 9 by train or jet for Florida, to spend the summer enroute to a hopeful major league career.

The 21-year-old athlete signed as a catcher after playing the infield for two years at Rider, where in his junior year he collected four homers and a hefty .311 average with the bat.

Bisbing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Bisbing, Sr., 712 Scott St., Stroudsburg, blasted three homers and accounted for 23 runs batted in at Rider this past year.

The dark-haired catcher also scored 39 runs and tied a 13-year Rider record for doubles, with nine, in helping the Trenton, N.J., college to a 19-6 season.

According to Bisbing, he was drafted both by the Los Angeles Dodgers and last year drafted by the Baltimore Orioles organization.

The Reds drafted the Stroudsburg native this past January.

Bisbing said Tuesday night that he signed with the Reds as they were the last team to draft him and the time schedule will allow him to finish college.

The catcher will play ball this summer and return to Rider in the fall with plans to graduate in January with a degree in Fine Arts.

He said he will then spend

a second summer in the organization farm circuit.

Commenting on the event, young Bisbing grinned and admitted he "felt good" and said, "I always wanted the chance and when I got it I took it."

Bisbing senior, outwardly pleased at having a prospect in the family, said, "That's what he wanted. I followed him since he was eight in the little league," he added with a proud smile.

Bisbing was not a new "flash" to scout Bowen, formerly with the Pittsburgh Pirates organization.

Bowen said he has observed Bisbing "for a long while," dating back to high school days and numerous summer camps the Pirates and now the Reds operate.

"He's an alright boy," Bowen smiled. "I saw him play infield in high school and I liked him then."

It was Bowen who suggested that Bisbing give up the infield and switch to catcher as that "was his chance in the big leagues."

The amicable scout should know what he's talking about, from six of his last draftees four are on major league rosters.

He said he's put ten players in the big leagues, including a speedster by the name of Maury Wills, former Dodger and now a third baseman for the Pirates.

At Stroudsburg High School

Bisbing not only helped the baseball team to a league championship in 1964 but also lettered in basketball and football.

On a baseball scholarship at Rider, Bisbing was recently a co-recipient of the Peter Daly award as the most improved player on the squad.

And what if the professional hopeful wasn't destined to play baseball?

According to him it would either be a teaching career or rendering work as part of an architectural firm.

Education and the arts will hopefully have to take a back seat to sports as Bisbing's first dream is a major league uniform.

Giants snap Braves win streak at 3

ATLANTA (AP) — Jim Hart's three-run homer in the first inning sent the San Francisco Giants on their way to a 6-4 victory over Atlanta Tuesday night, snapping the Braves' winning string at three games.

The victory lifted the Giants into a second place tie with the Braves in the National League.

Hart smacked his ninth homer after Atlanta rookie Jim Britton walked Ron Hunt and Ty Cline in the first. The Giants chased Britton and scored two more runs in the third for a 5-0 lead. Track war action readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee said Tuesday he expects action next month on a congressional effort to settle the track war between the nation's colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D—Wash., scrapped plans for immediate introduction of a bill to enforce the suggested compromise turned down by the colleges last month. But Magnuson kept the idea alive by saying it could be written into other bills already pending before his panel.

The Commerce Committee discussed the track war at its closed session Tuesday but took no significant action. Magnuson said the group will be meeting two and three times weekly after the Memorial Day holiday and added, "I think we'll probably come to some action on it then."

White Sox edge Birds 2-1 in 12th

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gerry McNertney's single in the 12th inning drove in the winning run Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox outlasted Baltimore 2-1.

Ken Berry led off the Chicago 12th with a lone single and went to second when Brooks Robinson threw wildly to first. Sandy Alomar then beat out a bunt, with Berry holding second.

McNertney then bunted four on two pitches off Orioles' reliever Eddie Watt, 1-3, and then singled to right, scoring Berry. Mets win marathon game

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Hiller's throwing error with two out in the 17th inning allowed Tommie Agee to score the winning run from second and the New York Mets beat Pittsburgh 4-3 Tuesday.

Neither team could score from the fifth inning as four Pittsburgh pitchers combined for 17 strikeouts in keeping the Mets at bay. Agee led off the 17th with a single off Bob Moose who gave up two hits in seven innings. Jerry Buehek then sacrificed and after Bud Harrelson flied to Alou, Ken Boswell then sent a grounder to Hiller at second and he threw the ball away.

It was the Mets first victory in extra innings this year and sent Pittsburgh to its fifth straight defeat.

The Mets tied the score 3-3 in the fifth on Harrelson's single and a double by Boswell.

Frank Howard battling for AL Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — It took the American League 65 years to produce half a dozen Triple Crown winners. Now, it may wind up with three in three years.

Frank Howard, the big man in Washington, appears to be well on his way toward being the final leader in batting, home runs and runs batted in. He took the No. 1 position in all three categories last week on the wings of his record-shattering home run pace.

The 6-foot-7, 250-pound outfielder moved from sixth to first in batting with a 13-for-30 performance that resulted in a 28-point increase to .338. He leads the co-runnersup, Ray White of the New York Yankees and Willie Horton of Detroit, by 30 points.

Yanks win third straight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andy Kosco's leadoff home run in the ninth inning gave the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over Washington Tuesday behind Mel Stottlemyre's six-hit pitching.

Kosco's homer, his sixth of the season, was the seventh hit off losing pitcher Joe Coleman, 2-3. Stottlemyre, who struck out seven, is now 5-3.

Stottlemyre retired 16 in a row after the Senators scored in the third before he walked Frank Howard in the eighth with two out. Ken McMullen followed with a single, but Mike Epstein took a third called strike.

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Rich Rollins' two-out single in the eighth inning drove in two runs Tuesday night and gave Minnesota a 3-1 victory over Detroit.

Joe Sparna of Detroit and Minnesota's Dean Chance battled through seven innings, but Rod Carew led off the Twins' eighth with a double.

The Twins got their first run on Killebrew's run-scoring single in the first and the Tigers tied it up an inning later when Willie Horton doubled and Bill Freehan singled him home.

Sonny's back

When Charles (Sonny) Liston first showed up in a ring, stripped for action, the belting around the better gyms was he had done his earliest fighting in trees. Equal support was for the notion he spent his winters in hollow trees till the snow melted. "If it can roller skate, I can get you on the Ed Sullivan Show," the wise guys told his trainer.

No one was surprised to find he had spent much of his life behind bars—the shocker was that it was the Missouri State Pen and not Barnum & Bailey. "How'd he get here, the rope break?" the wags shouted as he climbed the ring stairs. "Lift him in the fangs!" they shouted merrily to his scared-stiff opponents. He looked like something out of the first reel of a horror movie where the girl turns to the scientist and says, "My God, Doctor, what is it?"

His back was wider than the Mississippi. His fists were so big, his 84-inch reach was 50 inches of hands. His left was like a telephone pole, his right could break rocks. He knocked out a guy named Wayne Beltha in Chicago one night with a blow so hard, he was blowing teeth off his glove for 20 minutes.

He was as slow as a stagecoach, but so powerful he hit a guy in the head one night and broke both his ankles. He took a gun away from a cop in an alley 10 years ago and the guy is still limping.

He was so illiterate, for $12.33 he got five years in the can. He and two buddies had thrown guns on a crowd in a saloon one night and made a $37 score. They were so professional about it, it took the cops a whole hour to find them.

It was the best break Sonny Liston ever got. In stir, the pennantite St. Louis alley fighter became a world-famed pugilist. His kayos moved from the police blotter to the Ring record book.

Toughest Can

At the age of 18, he was the biggest, toughest con out of 3,000 at Jeff City. The kid who had to steal a bag of pecans to get out of a cotton patch in Arkansas could bump the heads of guys doing time for everything from wife-murder to cannibalism. Even the screws stepped around Sonny Liston.

A Catholic priest tied his first pair of boxing gloves on him. Father Alois Stevens and a St. Louis sports editor, Bob Burnes, made a pug out of a mug. They got Sonny sprung, and got his picture in places besides the post-office. He stopped hitting people over the head for nickels and dimes and started doing it over closed circuit for millions.

His contract was peddled around among a lot of guys better known for their fingerprints than their families. For years, his real managers were guys he could see only on visiting days. They got their checks after the warden opened them.

Sonny's worst break came the night he won the heavyweight championship. Floyd Patterson came in the ring with a chin so transparent, an Italian tenor could shatter it with a high note. Sonny knocked him out before the anthem singer got out of the ring, and thought the game was so easy, he never trained very hard again and took to fighting only every other eclipse of the sun.

Sits on Stool

He blew his title to Cassius Clay sitting on a stool, one suspects because it was the sixth round—five more than Sonny had trained for, and nine less than he was prepared to go. The rematch, he trained for perfectly — one round. He ended with a good view of the ring lights. King Kong had turned out to be just another Hollywood special effect—a clumsy guy in a gorilla suit, unmasked at midnight by Clay.

Sonny got 100 per cent of himself back that night. He never did get paid off for the Florida caper against Clay. The promoter died, and the state tied a string on the money.

That one fight smeared his reputation more than 19 strongarm arrests. People understand more now the desperation that can drive a man whose stomach is growling to knock over drunks, but quitting on your stool or falling under a right to the ear brings their hands to their noses.

Sonny is starting all over again this Thursday. At the Olympic, he meets a Cincinnati tough guy named Billy Joiner.

Did he hope it would lead back to another meeting with Clay? a journalist wanted to know. "Sure," said Sonny, as he towed himself off after a desultory workout at the Main St. Gym. "Or anybody else."

Did he think prison, if he went there, would deteriorate the skills of Clay if he was in for any period of time? Sonny shook his head. "They got very good gyms in jail," he said carefully. "You keep regular hours, and you don't run around at night, drink, carouse, or chase girls, and you eat regular and not too much."

He looked wistful like a man who could have used the year in the jute mill before his third title defense instead of before his third pro fight. There's nothing that makes you sleep sounder than a guy with a machine gun seeing to it that you do, and no fight so tough that a couple of one-to-five sentences run concurrently can't get you ready for. Most of Sonny's troubles started when his parole was up.

Endurance record

Cubs' left fielder, Billy Williams, Tuesday set a major league record for consecutive games for a fielder. Williams played in his 695th consecutive game, a new record for an outfielder and breaking the mark set by former Phillies star, Richie Ashburn.

Lessig tosses three-hitter

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg High School baseball team Tuesday pounded out a five-run fifth inning to drop visiting Pen Argyl 6-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Al Lessig.

Lessig scattered a trio of singles in the Lehigh-Northampton League contest and pitched six innings of shutout ball after the Green

Knights picked up a run in the first inning.

The Cavaliers boosted their season record to 6-5 capitalizing on five Pen Argyl errors in the win.

The Cavalier squad matched Pen Argyl's hitting in that both teams failed to connect for an extra base hit in the game and no batter collecting more than a single safety at the plate.

East Stroudsburg left fielder Steve Nauman scored a pair of runs in the contest and added a single in the Cavalier six-hit six-run attack.

The Cavaliers have two games remaining on the season circuit.

Cardinals bomb Bears

CRESCO — Shortstop Bob Crowl blasted a three-run homer in the third inning Tuesday, to help Pocono Mountain to a 12-3 romp over visiting Pleasant Valley in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest.

The Cardinals, pushing their season record to 10-3 with one game remaining, had little trouble with the West Enders in an 11-hit attack highlighted by Crowl's round-tripper.

Winning pitcher Steve McMaster struck out eight of the visitors after being tabbed for a single run in the third.

McMaster also went two-for-four at the plate, adding a double to the team total. The Cardinals scattered only four Bear hits in the game. John Nauman, third base, added a two-bagger for the Cardinals, while Joe Stoy, shortstop, unloaded a double for the Bears.

Stroudsburg notches 6th season win

STROUDSBURG — Mountaineers' center fielder, Scott Barton, belted a triple and a double Tuesday for a pair of runs batted in to lead Stroudsburg to a 10-6 win over visiting Lehigh.

Stroudsburg out-hit the visitors 10-5 and took the contest coming from a 5-2 deficit to a three-run third and four in the fourth to ice the game.

Williams sets record

Error in ninth beats Phils

CHICAGO (AP) — A passed ball by substitute catcher Cookie Rojas enabled Billy Williams to score the winning run in the ninth inning Tuesday as the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 6-5.

Rojas, normally a second baseman, had come in to catch the last of the ninth as a replacement for Clay Dalrymple, who left for a pinch hitter in the top of the inning.

Williams opened the frame with a double and Iban Sandoz was purposely walked. Ernie Banks sacrifice moved the runners up. Then Dick Farrell's pitch eluded Rojas and Williams scampered home.

Turbines set for 'invasion'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The "Flying Wedge" Lotus turbine race cars which smashed Indianapolis Motor Speedway records during time trials will make the full U.S. Auto Club championship circuit this year, owner Andy Granatelli announced Tuesday.

"We will race our turbines at every track and in every race on the entire USAC championship trail as long as they are capable of running and we have drivers to put in the cockpits," he said.

The decision breaks a long-standing rule of the STP division of Studebaker Corp., which has had cars in the Indianapolis 500 since 1946 but avoided other races.

"Regardless of how well they do on Memorial Day, we think fans across the country will want a chance to see them compete on their hometown tracks," he said.

Two of the turbocars, piloted by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., and Graham Hill of London last Saturday smashed the Speedway qualifying record set in 1967 by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.

Leonard hit a four-lap average of 171.569 miles per hour and Hill 171.208.

STROUDSBURG — A Babe Ruth League practice game will be played Thursday at 6:45 p.m. at Lin's field between the Eagles Club and Eagles squads.

Bangor captures LN crown; wild pitch tops Nazareth

NAZARETH — Les Schoenberger lost a heart-breaking two-hitter for Nazareth Tuesday on a wild pitch in the first inning to allow Bangor to remain undefeated and take the Northern Division Lehigh-Northampton diamond crown.

Schoenberger was tagged for the pair of singles in the first when Bangor scored on the error.

Nazareth's second defeat of the season to Bangor came in the first after Brad Farino singled, took second on a sacrifice fly by Tony Romano and went to third on the wild pitch thrown to first baseman Al Lobb.

Tannersville drops game

TANNERSVILLE — Greg Wallingford has upped his pitching record to only four hits in 14 innings but dropped Tuesday's game to visiting Newfoundland 2-0 in Babe Ruth League action.

Newfoundland's hurler, Olsommer, only allowed a pair of hits in the game in stopping Tannersville.

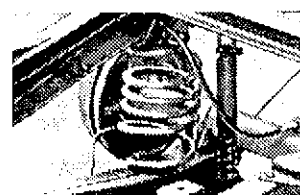

Tannersville will host Paradise tonight at 6 on their home field.
